Lewis “Lou” Von Thaer was appointed President and CEO of Battelle in October 1, 2017. Battelle delivers technology solutions for the national security, healthcare, energy, and environmental markets, and is highly regarded for its role in managing nine national laboratories in the United States. Previously, Mr. Von Thaer served as CEO of DynCorp International, and held other notable positions at AT&T Bell Laboratories, General Dynamics, and Leidos, Inc.

Mr. Von Thaer earned a bachelor’s degree in electrical engineering from Kansas State University and a master’s degree in electrical engineering from Rutgers University. He serves as board chair of Pacific Northwest National Laboratory, UT-Battelle and National Veterans Memorial and Museum, and on the boards of the Defense Science Board, Nationwide Children’s Hospital and TAPS (Tragedy Assistance Program for Survivors). He is a member of The Ohio State University Board of Trustees where he serves on three committees: Audit, Finance and Investment, Research, Innovation & Strategic Partnerships, and Talent, Compensation and Governance. Mr. Von Thaer also serves as a trustee of the Kansas State University Foundation, and is a member of the Ohio Business Roundtable and the Columbus Partnership Executive Committee.
